5.2.5 Work to be performed

Background:

Tobacco use remains a leading yet preventable cause of death and disability in Bangladesh, and a major driver of the country's noncommunicable disease (NCD) burden. It is responsible for approximately 19% of all deaths annually, with an estimated 1.5 million adults suffering from tobacco-related illnesses¹, recognizing tobacco control as a major public health priority. The Government of Bangladesh has shown increasing policy commitment, being a signatory to the WHO Framework Convention on Tobacco Control (WHO FCTC) and having endorsed the MPOWER package, which identifies "Offer help to quit tobacco use" as a core population-level intervention under Article 14². Subsequently, the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoH&FW), through the National Tobacco Control Cell (NTCC), has initiated steps to strengthen tobacco cessation services, building on a three-month pilot tobacco quitline initiative implemented in 2025 with technical support through the National Heart Foundation Hospital & Research Institute (NHFH&RI).

The pilot tested both proactive and reactive counselling approaches and generated important operational experience, including service delivery protocols, counsellor training approaches, monitoring mechanisms, and public awareness activities, with 210 participants (15.3%) achieving tobacco cessation by the end of the intervention. However, tobacco cessation services in Bangladesh remain largely limited to brief advice through primary healthcare facilities, and there is currently no nationally established toll-free tobacco quitline or comprehensive national cessation support mechanism, including systematic provision of pharmacological support. Considering the demonstrated feasibility and encouraging outcomes of the pilot, a structured transition toward a nationally guided and institutionalized quitline service is necessary.

Rationale:

The previous pilot quitline initiative in 2025, demonstrated the feasibility and acceptability of quitline-based tobacco cessation support in the Bangladesh context; however, it was implemented on a limited scale and duration, with counselling delivered through ad hoc arrangements rather than an institutionalized system. Global evidence indicates that quitline services can increase cessation rates by up to 60% compared to minimal or no intervention, particularly when combined with pharmacotherapy and delivered through standardized, protocol-based counselling³. However, the pilot's training approach, service protocols, and monitoring systems have not yet been standardized, validated, or adapted for national rollout, limiting the ability to expand the service with consistent quality and reliability.

Additionally, the pilot did not establish a dedicated, adequately resourced quitline center with the call center infrastructure, trained personnel, and operational systems required to sustain a nationally accessible service. Without a standardized training manual, a trained cadre of healthcare providers, and a properly established quitline center, opportunities to scale up this cost-effective intervention may be missed. Institutionalizing the quitline under NTCC, supported by operational and training framework, will enable the Government to expand access to cessation support, ensure service quality and consistency, and strengthen the evidence base for sustained national scale-up in line with WHO FCTC and MPOWER commitments.

² WHO Framework Convention on Tobacco Control and MPOWER package.

³ WHO evidence review on quitline effectiveness for tobacco cessation.

General Objective:

This initiative aims to support the Government of Bangladesh in establishing, operationalizing, and scaling an evidence-based national tobacco quitline service to enhance cessation.

Specific Objectives:

1. To support NTCC in the establishment and initial set-up of a national tobacco quitline service.
2. To develop a standardized training manual for healthcare providers delivering quitline services.
3. To build capacity of healthcare providers (doctors, nurses and counsellors) to deliver protocol-based quitline counselling.
4. To support NTCC in operationalizing and scaling up a national quitline service.
